What is redistricting?

After the 2020 Census, Kentucky will draw new maps to show which parts of the state elect each member of the Kentucky House, Kentucky Senate, and U.S. House of Representatives. That process is called redistricting, and it is likely to change the districts that represent you and others in Bullitt County.

How can we estimate population changes before the 2020 Census?

The American Community Survey, conducted by the Census Bureau, provides county population estimates each year. Using the 2018 data, this County Estimate Report gives an initial idea of what is happening in your county and how redistricting may affect your area.

Looking at the big picture, what are the estimated population changes from 2010 to 2018?

- The fifty-state population increased 5.9%, adding an estimated 18,321,164 people.
- The Kentucky population increased 3.0%, adding an estimated 129,035 people.
- For the counties along I-65 as a group, population increased 5.5%, adding an estimated 62,595 people.
- Nearby, for northern counties between I-65 and I-75 as a group population increased 6.9%, adding an estimated 30,175 people. (That northern group includes Nelson, Washington, Boyle, Garrard, and counties further north.)
- For Bullitt and other counties that share your Senate and House districts, estimated changes are shown on the next page.

For Bullitt County's Senate seat, what are the estimated changes?

When Kentucky used 2010 Census data to redistrict, each Senate seat needed between 108,484 and 119,904 people. If we used the 2018 estimates, each seat would need to be larger, with between 111,710 and 123,469 people. With estimated population growth in both counties, Senate District 38 may be within the allowed size range for a Kentucky Senate seat, perhaps with some changes to the included Jefferson precincts. Here are the numbers for each county in the district:

COUNTIES INCLUDED IN SENATE DISTRICT 38
County	2010 Count	2018 Estimate	Change	% Change
Bullitt	74,319	81,069	6,750	9.1%
Jefferson *	741,096	770,517	29,421	4.0%
Total	815,415	851,586	36,171	4.4%
* signals that only part of a county is included in this district

For Bullitt County's House seats, what are the estimated changes?

When Kentucky used 2010 Census data, each House seat needed between 41,224 and 45,563 people. With 2018 estimates, each seat would need to be between 42,450 and 46,918 people. Bullitt County is served by three House seats. All four counties in those districts had estimated population growth, making redistricting changes likely. Again, here are the county-by-county numbers:

COUNTIES INCLUDED IN HOUSE DISTRICTS 26, 49 AND 53
County	District	2010 Count	2018 Estimate	Change	% Change
Anderson	53	21,421	22,663	1,242	5.8%
Spencer	53	17,061	18,794	1,733	10.2%
Hardin*	10 18 21 25 26 27	105,543	110,356	4,813	4.6%
Bullitt	26 49 53	74,319	81,069	6,750	9.1%
Total		218,344	232,882	14,538	6.7%
* signals that the marked county also shares districts with other counties
